New York, December 18th.—There is a startling story about town this evening to the effect that a huge syndicate controlling a capital of $8,000,000 has been formed by Henry Villard, to buy up and operate a large list of electrical patents, including the stock-ticker service and Edison's electric lighting and other inventions. The object of the syndicate, it is stated, is to form a great "Electrical Trust" and freeze out all concerns in opposition that did not come into the combination. Villard denies the story.

CIVIL SERVICE DISCUSSION IN THE HOUSE.

The Senate Wants No Holiday Recess-California Land Decision -The Tariff-Etc.

[SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE RECORD-UNION.]

THEN AND NOW. musing Change of Bases by Parties on Washington, December 18th.—The Democratic Senators were brought to a realizing sense to-day of the intention of their Republican brethren to pass the tariff bill at the present session of Congress by the action of the Republican caucus in adopting a resolution doing away with the holiday recess and providing for day and night sessions until the tariff bill shall be disposed of.

and night sessions until the tariff bill shall be disposed of.

Much amusement is afforded outsiders by the sudden change of front of both parties since the election. Prior to the adjournment of the last session of Congress, the solicitude of the Democrats that a bill should be passed by the House to reduce the tariff duties was painful, and when the Mills bill was finally sent to the Senate the Democratic Senators were impatient of the delay in the Finance Committee that prevented instant relief being granted to the suffering taxpayers of the country.

There is about as much snifering now among the taxpayers as there was prior to November 6th, but the Democratic Senators now wish to consider the Finance Committee's bill with great deliberation, and to be fully informed on the subject before voting, while the Republican Senators are suddenly stirred with a deep anxiety to pass their bill without the slightest unnecessary delay.

To-morrow final action will be taken upon the resolutions agreed to by the Republican caucus.

CONGRESSIONAL PROCEEDINGS. In the Senate.

Washington, December 18th.—In the Fenate to day the resolution for evening sessions was taken up, and an amendment offered by Morrill providing that the daily hour of the meeting of the Senate should be 11 A, M., and that at 5:30 a revess would be taken till 8 P. M.
Vest opposed the resolution. He understood its political importance. The Democratic Senators did not propose to make a factious opposition to the tarif, but it was cruel and outrageous to ask them to hold night sessions in order to rush it through.

Morrill argued that the sessions were necesorder to rush it through.

Morrill argued that the sessions were necesary in order that the Senate might do the work before it, which included not only the tariff bill, but the appropriation bills, which would require the

but the appropriation bills, which would require time.

Vest warned the Republicans that the proposition to put the tariff bill through under whip and spur could not be carried out.

Further debate followed. Finally, further consideration of the resolution for evening sessions was unanimously postponed until to-morrow. A compromise is under consideration.

The House concurrent resolution for a holiday recess was reported back from the Finance Committee with an amendment restricting it to the House of Representatives, and went over without action till to-morrow.

The bill to permit the construction of a railway bridge across Young's Bay, Or., was reported from the Committee on Commerce and passed.

The consideration of the raiff bill was then resumed. The Senate, having disposed of about three paragraphs of the bill, proceeded to executive business and then adjourned.

In the House.

In the House this morning Springer stated that he would not call up the Territorial bills to-day. There will be a meeting of the Committee on Territories to-morrow. It would be then determined when those measures will be considered.

Blaine is Maine Said to be in a Very Happy Mood.

Augusta (Me.), December 18th.—Alger's visit to Blaine is still the subject of gossip. His visit was very secretly managed. Blaine on Sunday and the amendment was opposed by Randall.
A lengthy debate then ensued on the matter of the civil service. Henderson said the spirit of by the present Administration.

McMillan of Tennessee challenged this statement.

satisfied, and believed that every other member of the House was, that in the selection of clerks of the House was, that in the selection of cierks under the civil service law, politics have absolutely dominated. He is well satisfied that Republicans who passed examinations with higher records than those of some Democrats who had been selected, utterly failed to secure recognition. When we find it stated under oath by a Bureau Chief, and boasted of, that 97 per cent. of the appointments in his office are Democrats, we know that some singular manipulation is going on. Gentlemen on the other law, as it has been administered, is a farce and a sham.

one with which seven-eighths of the people of the country sympathized. He knew that three-fourths of the Republicans are sincerely inwardly opposed to the civil service law, and the Democratic side of the House, if it could be polled sincerely, would be unanimous, because it would be acting in accordance with the request of an overwhelming majority of the people. The Democrats are going to obey the order of November like thorough Americans and

Henderson asked if the Democratic party did not pledge itself in favor of the civil service law. Isw. Spinola—"It said it was in favor of an honest civil service law. I will explain that from the Democratic standpoint. It is the civil service law of Jefferson. When an applicant appeared he was asked, 'Is he honest? Is he capable? Is he a friend of the Constitution? That means the civil service of the Democratic party."

Is he a friend of the Constitution? That means the civil service of the Democratic party."

Buchanan of New Jersey—"Did the gentleman's clarion voice ring out in behalf of those principles in 1884?"

Spinola,—"Never, in my life, and what is more, that ancient and powerful organization that sent me here has, time after time, by resolution, denounced this law, and until it changes front I, as an humble member of Tammany Hall, shall stand here and oppose this legislation."

Henderson's amendment was finally rejected—27 to 60, and the debate was continued at length by Brown of Indiana and Springer of Illinois. The latter took occasion to say that if President Harrison administered the civil service law in the same spirit in which it had been administered by Cleveland the people would have no reason to complain. Continuing he said that if it were not for that cumbersome administered by Cleveland the people would have no reason to complain. Continuing he said that if it were not for that cumbersome and absolute machine known as the Electoral College the Democrats would now be rejoicing in a great national victory on the principle which his party submitted at the last election. There was a large majority of the people who dec'ded in favor of the platform of the Democratic party.

Lodge of Massachusetts said that, in view of the opportunity which the Democrats possessed for increasing Cleveland's majority in the Southern States, they must feel like Lord Clive, and wonder at their own moderation in giving him only 100,000 majority.

The motion of Cummings to strike out the civil service section was finally rejected—25 to 138—and the reading of the bill concluded.

The committee then arose and the bill was Callers on General Harrison—The Dudley Letter Inquiry.

Indianafolis, December 18th.—General Harrison had a large number of visitors to-day. Among the others, Governor Moorehouse, of Missouri, accompanied by T. S. Richards, of Salt Lake, paid a social visit.

A large number of Chairmen of Republican County Committees also called. About forty-three Chairmen are in the city, having been subpensed to appear before the Federal Grand Jury. About a dozen of them were before the jury to-day, as was also Secretary Dille, of the State Committee, who said, on emerging from the jury-room, that he never saw a copy of what purports to be the Dudley letter, and has never seen anybody who saw the letter. Furthermore, he don't believe Dudley ever wrote such a letter. a letter. Colonel W. H. Barker, Secretary of the New

During the campaign Colonel Barker had charge of the appointment bureau of the National Republican Committee. He appeared before the jury to-day, and it is reliably stated that one of the few questions asked him was: "Are you familiar with the handwriting of W. W. Dudley?" Barker is said to have replied that he was. The same authority states that Acting District Attorney Bailey didnot produce any letter for Barker to identify.

The Motive of Dick Hawes in Murdering His Family. ATLANTA (Ga.), December 18th.—The motive of Dick Hawes in murdering his two little girls and his wife has been discovered. A few days before her death Mrs. Hawes settled all her property on her son, of whom the father is the guardian, and which act puts him in control of the property.

The two sisters of Mrs Hawes, who have died within the past year, willed their estates respectively to May and Irene, the girls to come into possession upon attaining their majority. In order, therefore, to control all the property, Hawes found it necessary to get rid of the two girls, as well as the mother, so that, as their heir, he would come into possession of the entire block of property left by Colonel Pettis, his father-in-law.

Arguing a Case.

CHICAGO, December 18th—Some remarkable language was used by Attorney J. S Trude in Judge Collins' Court to-day. He is counsel for Sumner C. Welch, who was on trial charged with bribing a juror in a case for damages for personal injuries, brought against the Chicago City Railway Company. The alleged bribery occurred in Judge Hawes' Court last summer, and, as will be remembered, the Judge took an active part in the investigation. Referring to the fact, Attorney Trude, in the course of his argument to-day, savagely scored Judge Hawes for his course in the investigation, and said that Hawes' motive in attacking President Holmes of the street ear company was that he wanted the nomination for Governor.

When these remarks were reported to Judge Hawes he said he cared nothing for the opinions of Trude. Before the afternoon ended the case was dropped, and Weich released. Rosenthal, the juror who testified that Welch attempted to bribe him, took the stand and said it was not Welch, but Starkey, an attorney for the street car company, who is now in Canada, who was the guilty man. "Osman Digna," says Wylde, "does not lie, and it is noticed he did not mention Stanley in his communication, although the letter from Mahdi's Lieutenant gives the name of Stanley. This," thinks Wylde. "is an indication that Digna knows it is not Stanley." What is Scrofula

It is that impurity in the blood, which, accumulating in the glands of the neck, produces unsightly lumps or swellings; which causes painful running sores on the arms, legs, or feet; which developes ulcers in the eyes, ears, or nose, often causing blindness or deafness; which is the origin of pimples, cancerous growths, or many other manifestations usually ascribed to "humors." It is a more formidable enemy than consumption or cancer alone, for scrofula combines the worst possible features of both. Being the most ancient, it is the most general of all diseases or affections, for very few persons are entirely free from it How can it be cured? By taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, which, by the cures it has accomplished often when other medicines have failed, has proven itself to be a potent and peculiar r for this disease. For all affections of the blood Hood's Sarsaparilla is unequalled, and some of the cures it has effected are really wonderful. If you throughout the coast. WHO IS EMIN BEY? Emin Bey, whose fate now so much engages attention, is an Austrian, whose name is Schnitzer. He was born in 1840 at Opelu. He studied medicine at Breslau, Berlin and Konigsberg. In 1868 he became a surgeon in the Turkish army. It is said that at that time he became a convert to Mohammedanism, but this is denied by his friends. He was sent to Egypt, and became a Surgeon-General to Gordon's army. In 1878 he was made Governor-General of the equatorial provinces, and the title of Bey was conferred upon him by the Khedive of Egypt, and he was afterward promoted to the rank of Pasha. He developed, as Governor, after Gordon's retirement to Khartoum, remarkable executive ability. He is a bold, determined and energetic man, reads men quickly and unerringly, and seldom makes a mistake in anything he undertakes. When he took charge of the equatorial provinces the whole region was in turmoil, and its 6,000,000 people terrorized by the slave dealers who overran the country, kidnaping and butchering with scarcely any restraint. In less than three years Emin drove them out and brought the provinces from a burden-creating section. provinces from a burden-creating section to Egypt to a revenue-paying region, so that it actually sent to the Egyptian treasury $40,000 surplus, while before it had drawn $200,000 annually from Egypt to meet deficits. Emin gained great power over the natives by his learning, his firmness and kindness and his keen knowledge of human nature. He introduced new methods in agriculture, established schools effectually broke up the slave trade, secured the peace of the country, built roads, introduced many industries, suppressed crime and made his region as safe a country as any in Africa. All around his provinces, however, barbarity prevailed, the slavetraders prospered and carried on their nefarious and murderous business free handed. They became the supporters of the Mahdi and the enemies, of course, of Emin Bey and General Gordon. The result was that when a new king came to the throne in Uganda, the Arab slavers managed to control him. He used his influence with the other tribes to antagonize them against Emin, and he was presently literally walled in by hostile savages, who were prompted by the slavers and kept well supplied with arms and money from the same source. News of the dangerous situation of Emin reached Europe in October, 1886. He then had ten fortified posts on the Nile, 1,500 soldiers, ten Egyptia and fifteen negro officers, and twenty Coptic officials. He then believed he had powder enough to last until the end of the year only, and if not attacked by great forces it would last him a year. He could then have taken a few men and his officers and have escaped from the country, but he refused to leave the people to the certain fury of the slave-dealers if they once gained entrance to the provinces. In the party of Emin Bey was Dr. Junker, a Russian, who arrived at Zanzibar December 4, 1886, and his report of the critical queda the British Government to order an expedition to go to his relief. Later advices, however, led to the belief that Emin was not in any close quarters, but that he had reduced the rebels to submission as far up the White Nile as Lardo, where it is now reported he has been surrendered, by his own men, in chains, to the Kahlifa, the representative of the Mahdi. The English expedition for the relief of Emin started, however, and was commanded by H. M. Stanley, the intrepid African explorer Egypt gave him £10,000, and in England £20,000 were added by private subscription, and Stanley sailed on the 30th of December, 1886, for Africa. He went to Zanzibar, organized his force of 480 persons, of whom but nine were Europeans. and sailed for the Congo, up which he proceeded along the line of his old route in 1883, as shorter in land journey than the Masai route. He was last officially heard from in July, 1887. The progres of the relief party was slow. Just what has become of it is not now and may never be learned. It is known, however, that in August, 1887, it had been forced to leave the stores and ammunition designed for England is politically and financially in-THE troubles in Mississippi may grow into a local war of races unless checked at once. A negro and a white boy had a difficulty about passing each other with wagons on the highway, and a fight ensued, resulting in organization by the whites to pursue and arrest the negro for assault. The colored people, in considerposse pursuing the negro was met by the armed blacks, and a fight ensued, in which many of the former were killed or wounded. Out of such beginnings it is possible for a local war of the bush whacking order and bitterest character to spring. The State authorities ought to be prompt to interfere and preserve the peace. The only fear is that the State officials are not so dispassionate in such cases as to hold the scales evenly and preserve the peace without favoring one side or the other in the methods adopted.

evening, and the quarter clin gave several selections.

The feature of the evening was a tableaux at the west end of the pavilion, where the committee's magnificent representation of the Rock of Ages is situated. A great cross, some twenty feet in hight, stands above a pile of grantite rocks. By means of a slowly moving elevator, Misses Mary and Alice Cox were raised, and clung to the cross, while the quartet sang the "Rock of Ages." The effect was very fine and was warmly commended, though the scene was so solemn that the appreciation was shown by dead silence, instead of applause. The conception and execution of this beautiful display was by D. K. Perkins. An immense crowd is expected to morrow. The weather is simply delightful, and Oroville is in luck.

BASEBALL MATTERS. The Managers all on the Lookout for Players-Stray Notes. Notwithstanding the fact that this is al-

Sacramento has lost many a game when a scratch hit might have won.

In the League meeting held in San Francisco Thursday evening many heated arguments occurred, and altogether the meeting, which lasted some four or five hours, was very lively. Sacramento at first stood alone against the California League becoming a party to the National agreement, which permits clubs that are members to reserve their players. The other League Directors were finally made to see that the League had more to lose than to gain by it, and the resolution was tabled. Sacramento was also sgainst the salary limit, but does not propose to pay any fancy salaries on that account, on the ground that such legisla-tion as a general thing is of no avail and oon becomes a dead letter. The real contest commenced when the schedule was taken up, as they could not all have the "plums," and of course each man struggled to get as much as he could.

Trades and combinations were formed, dates traded and at lest a compression. lates traded, and at last a compromise was effected and by it Sacramento will not be left, as each one of the other clubs open in Sacramento on a Sunday, and probably forty games will be played in this city.

Jevnes' fielding average in the Western league the past season was .929 and hating .241; he is also quite a base-runner. He played in Minneapolis seventy-four ames before coming to the coast.

Billy Alvord says Newbert's throwing is coming year.

Jerry Hurley, the popular baseball catcher, of San Francisco, is to be given a benefit. He is one of the pluckiest players in California, and though almost "laid out" by knocks he is still on top, and though somewhat disabled, he proposes to play Somebody whispers that Gagus is going to be an umpire. He would doubtless be given a very "enthusiastic" reception if he ever came to Sacramento. THE NEW RULES. The Stocktons' second baseman, O'Day, was interviewed on Saturday as to the new rules adopted by the Eastern Association, and accepted by the California League. People generally only know that pitchers are to be allowed but four balls instead of hve, and that runners were privileged to make bases on foul tips. Just how that was to be done no one of the great herd of

"Suppose," said Mr. O'Day, "a player is on first, and, as the ball leaves the pitcher's hands, he makes up his mind to try to steal second. Under the old rules, if the striker fouled the ball and the extern held it and throw it to first. the catcher held it, and threw it to first before the runner got back there, he was out. Under the new rule, the runner can keep right on, and, if he can get to second, is entitled to a stolen base. That is what is meant by running on foul tips. Of course, if the ball is knocked foul, or popped up or away so that the catcher or a an or fielder has to run for it, the old rule holds, and no running can be done till after it is settled into the pitcher's hands. The object of the new rule is to op doubling tack on bases."
"Can a player run in the same way from

"Certainly; from any base, and may make home if he can on that kind of a "Well, supposing, as before, a man on first starts for second and the catcher throws to cut him off and hits the umpire the man gets his stolen base. So, if a bats man strikes a ball, and it hits the umpire he is not out, and can run on the hit, just the same as if the umpire had not been in

The Emma Abbott English Opera Company opens a season of three nights this evening, with the opera-new here-" Ruy Blas," in which, as Queen Marie, Miss Abbott is by many thought to appear to better advantage than in other roles. The troupe is larger and stronger than on either of its three appearances here before, and in addition brings a full orchestra. Among the leading vocalists, besides Miss Abbott, are Lizzie Annandale, contralto; William Broderick, basso; Walter Allen, basso; Wm. Pruette, Helene Bertram, a new and young singer who has recently joined the company. Michelena, the Spanish tenor; company. Michelena, the Spanish tenor; Montegriffo, a singer well known here, and Myra Mirella.

"Ruy Blas" has been sung in English in this country only by Miss Abbott. It calls for very rich costumery and a large number of people for its proper production, and in both essentials the management of the Abbott Company asserts its completeness. Since last here Miss Abbott says she has studied the role she sings to-night in Europe under vocal and dramatic instructors, and has made it a specialty. The season just closed in San Francisco by this company was the longest of English opera ever maintained there. The box-sheet shows plentiful reservations of seats for the thre-nights to be given here.

A San Francisco exchange of yesterday says: "The appointment of John Q. Brown as Gas Inspector is a pleasant surprise, and his prompt confirmation an even greater the officers of the gas company tell him about the quality of their commodity. He knows all about gas. Ee has been in the business himself, and will not have to take lessons from the monopoly. Mr. Brown is a substantial business man of good repute in the community. He is President of the State Board of Trade, and was for six years Mayor of Sacramento. We shall expect an early improvement in our lights. At least, if we are to continue to burn six-candle gas, we shall not be asked to believe that it is eighteen."

LAST NIGHT'S ARRESTS.

Valuable Property at the Station House Awaiting the Owners. Last evening officers Carroll and Mc-Laughlin ascertained that a quartet of suspicious characters were trying to dispose of some ladies' wearing apparel and jewelry to the women on the lower part of L street. They set a trap for the supposed thieves

.se oo and succeeded in capturing two of them, who gave the names of Cudder and Plunkett. The latter was once before arrested for vagrancy and driven out of the city, but returned a few days since. When arrested they were trying to dispose of the following articles: A lady's sealette cloak, almost new, fur tipped, and worth about $65. A lady's felt hat, trimmed with a yellow bird, head, tail and wings, worth several dollars. A lady's gold bar breastpin, with a solitaire diamond setting. A lady's bangle bracelet, consisting of seven gold hoops. A ring with emerald and ruby settings and the articles they had in a white pillow-case, and the officers think were stolen from some residence in this city last evening. The prisoners are both young, and described by the officers as being "a couple of toughs."

Notwithstanding the fact that this is almost midwinter, baseball topics come in for a prominent part of daily talk, and things will, no doubt, hum as the season approaches. All the sports are making guesses as to those who will play with the Sacramento club, but the managers do not propose to tell until the nine is complete and the list will then be made public. It is safe to say, however, that there will be no "scrubs," as Sacramento proposes to carry off the pennant in '89 by a big majority. Sacramento's third base, which has always been its weak spot, will in '89 boast of having the strongest player in that position of any club in California. With the addition of a first baseman, the Sacramento infield will be complete. One outfielder has been secured.

Stockton sent a strong representative to select the most of the suspected individual who that been sitting near him. He reported his case to the police and gave a description of the suspected individual and officer Lowell soon had the latter under arrest. The watch and chain were found the safe that watch, a Waltham silver time. He said the watch, a Waltham silver time inside of the case. The scratching had evidently been done with the sharp point of a knife quite recently. The man who claimed to have been robbed accompanied the fofficer to the jeweler from whom he had purchased the watch and the latter recognized the timepiece as the one he had worken are shown to the ported his case to the police and gave a description of the suspected individual who that been sitting near him. Stockton sent a strong representative to the League meeting in J. C. Campbell, and their interests were well looked after. They will place several hundred dollars' worth of season tickets on the market as soon as a schedule can be agreed upon. It is said their ambition is to "do" Sacramento, whom they look upon as a rival. In Baker they have a very strong card, but in order to make him effective he must be backed up by a strong catcher. The Mysterious Disappearance of Wm.

He resided at 4131 I street and apparently Last Thursday about 11 A. M. he kissed his wife as was his usual custom on leaving the house and started out to make a few purchases for the noonday meal. From that hour to the present she has not seen him and has sat at the window constantly night and day looking for her husband and thinking that something has happened him. He dropped entirely out of sight. On Friday last she telegraphed to the of-fice at the Bay and in response to her telegram received a reply stating that he had called with his time card and receipted for

On Saturday, Mr. Wallace, a fellow-workman at the railroad shops, says, Keith visited the shops and he held a short conversation with him and he appeared all right. In order to satisfy himself that there was no mistake, Mr. Wallace called on Mrs. Keith vesterday, and convirced on Mrs. Keith yesterday and convinced himself by looking at a photograph that it was Keith whom he saw and none other. Late on Saturday afternoon a man answering his description was seen on the bank of the river at the foot of Y street.

Mrs. Keith is almost distracted with grief and fears he has been foully dealt with. She can in no way account for his action. He was kind, affectionate, honest, loving, an upright and honorable citizen, never drank, had no vices and his action is inexplicable. He is 25 years of age, six feet in games before coming to the coast.

As a celloist, Blumenberg is exacting in taste and style, and satisfies the severest demand of musand satisfies the severest demand of mus-ical criticism. He is, in short, a finished performer of unquestioned fine ability. Mr. Rhodes, the solo violinist, proved to be an admirable performer, thoroughly artis-tic in style, with not a particle of evasion in his work. To say that he plays with feel-ing is to express but the unanimous verdict; that is to say, he plays as if his purpose is that is to say, he plays as if his purpose is to reach and touch each individual heart, and this is never accomplished except by and this is never accomplished except by one possessed of musical sensibility. The flute solois, Mr. Heutschel, was satisfactory, is correct, precise and finished, but did not impress feelingly as did either of the other soloists. As a whole, the concert was highly enjoyable, and stamps the troupe as one worthy of the attention of the most exacting tastes. In fact, the quintet instrumentation was as smooth and delicate, and yet as strong and vital as any ever given here, and in some repects, as in precision, has not been equalled.

MEETING OF THE STATE COMMIT-TEE AT SAN FRANCISCO

To Consider the Subject and Provide Ways and Means for Future Action.

[San Francisco Bulletin.] At 10 o'clock this morning there was gathered in the rooms of the Chamber of Commerce in this city a large number of gentlemen repreenting the various counties and industries of the State. The gentlemen present were those selected by the various Boards of Trade through out the State to take action in relation to the central stone missing. A gold gent's collar button with a brilliant ruby setting. These the meeting to order, and called for nominations for temporary officers.

William H. Mills nominated for Temporary ing held in San Francisco last week. Chairman A. T. Hatch, and for Temporary Secretaries, J. Meredith Davies of Oakland and were declared elected by acclamation. On molonly extended to members of the Order.

charles B. Turrill of San Diego. The nominees were declared elected by acclamation. On motion of Mr. Mills it was also decided that the delegates from the various counties be given bernisoln to temporarily fill any vacancies on the County Committees.

Upon motion of Mr. Byington all persons present at the meeting, who were appointed by the State Board of Trade or the various County Committees, were recognized as members of the London Exhibition Committee.

The following committees were then appointed by Chairman Hatel: Permanent of ganization—Mr. Workman, C. B. Turrill, P. B. Cornwall, M. M. Low and W. H. Byington, and the County Lindley, M. Estee and Jesse D. Carr. The committee then retired for the purpose of arranging their plans, and during the intering David Lubin, of Sacramento, addressed the meeting on the purposes of the State display at the London exhibition, Mr. Lubin has but lately returned from a trip through Europe, and is an earnest advocate of the advancement of California by means of immigration and more enlightned commercial methods. During his it pabroad, the gentleman stated, he had seen wine on the tables of France which did not even smell good. France was at the present time a large importer of wine from Algeria, California and various European countries. He had discovered that the inferior wines of California products be established in London; Resolved, That a permanent exhibition of California products be established in London California products be established in London; Resolved, That a permanent exhibition of California products be established in London; Resolved, That a permanent exhibition of California products be established in London; Resolved, That a permanent exhibition of California products be established in London; Resolved, That a permanent exhibition of California products be established in London; Resolved, That a permanent exhibition of California products be established in London; Resolved, That a permanent exhibition of California products be established in London; Reso

Resolved, That a permanent exhibition of Cali-Resolved, That a permanent exhibition of California products be established in London.

In speaking on his resolution Mr. Estee said that he was surprised, during his trip East this summer, to find that the grossest kind of ignorance existed in the Eastern States regarding California should let the world know what the resources of our soil are. It is very hard to convince people that we raise here the fig of commerce, almonds and English walnuts, olives and other fruits that are supposed to grow in no other part of the world than the Mediterranean countries. It is only lately that Californians had become acquainted with the resources of the soil, and they should now make known to the world our varied products.

The resolution of Mr. Estee was unanimously carried.

The Computtee on Order of Resiness are carried.

The Committee on Order of Business presented the following report, which was adopted:

"Your Committee on Order of Business beg leave to report as follows: 1st—Consideration of general subject, and answer to the question, Shall an exhibition of the products of California be held in London? 2d—The duration of such exhibition. 3d—The general plan. 4th—Consideration and ascertainment of cost. 5th—Consideration of ways and means. 6th—Appointment of committees."

The Committee on Permanent Organization

by the Convention." The report was adopted. Upon the first order of business being taken up. A. Daw-Kennell addressed the Convention, The gentleman said that two years ago he came to this State as the representative of the official paper of London (the Cutizen). When he arrived in the fall he believed that California was the most desolate place he had ever seen. At the time he did not send back his opinions of the State, but waited, and now he was of the opinion that the soil of California will produce anything. He believed it would be advisable to place a permanent exhibition in London. In order to sell our producets there, however, he thought it would be advisable to do away with some of the middle men who now put themselves between the California producer and the English consumer. An exhibition from the State could be made self-supporting if an admission fee were charged, but he would not advise that plan. Should an exhibition be placed there it would attract to this State a large immigration of young men with capital ranging from $10,000 to $50,000.

isonal Church last evening with a concert by the Boston Quintet Club. The audience exceeded a thousand and was one of the best congregations of auditors ever gathered in this city. The entertainment was a pronounced success. The Quintet Club proved to be a combination of musical forces of strength, a well-balanced body of musicians whose tone is round and strong, and whose work is careful and precise. All the numbers of the programme were given with spirit and fine taste. The performers were John F. Rhodes, solo violinist; Paul Mende, violinist; Oscar Heutschel, flute virtuoso and violinist; Paul Stoeving, violinist and viola soloist; and Louis Blumenberr, violoncello virtuoso. Their artistic instrumentation was pleasingly varied by the appearance of Miss Anne Carpenter, a cultured sopramo of mezzo quality. The lady has splendid stage presence, almost majestic, and carries herself with a self-possession and confidence that in a less refined person would be boldness, but with this singer commands admiration and comports with her splendid physique. She is rather a dramatic than a sweet singer; that is, her voice has more of energy and fluency than sympathetic quality. She is a vocalist admirably adapted in attempt and penetrating quality of tone for large auditoriums. She sings with ease and charming naturalness, and with the technical skill that testifies to severe culture. Her enunciation and dramatic interpretation are notable strong qualities. Encored enthusiastically on each appearance, ser responded in a way to prove how finely she and work of the products of the Yosemite valley Mount shast a

THE DOLLS OF TO-DAY.

The Dolls of to-day are thorough aristocrats. Indeed, modern little girls wouldn't have them if they were not. Certainly they bear no resemblance to their ancestors, fashioned in rags, with charcoal features more decided than beautiful.

We have everything in China, from wee babies to grand dames. The heads of these attractive make-believes are covered with loose, curling hair, which can be managed in any style. There are brown and blue-eyed, golden and brownhaired dolls, with long eye-lashes and cute little mouths.

Some are dressed, some are not. Perhaps the lack of outfits is to show the neat, strong bodies of white kid, with movable joints, which will enable little mammas to set Dolly straight or bend her knees in a courtesy.

These Dolls are quite traveled. They have traveled across the Atlantic from fashionable Paris, arriving but a short time since. Real little Parisiennes! The French China or bisque, of which their heads are made, is both beautiful and durable; will stand more hard knocks before losing a dainty nose or splitting a pretty head than those of common clay. One of the favorites is a brown-eyed beauty, bedecked in blue, and with that prime essentials of a perfect toilet, a well-fitting pair of shoes. On the head, which is covered with thickly-banged brown hair, is a big poke hat, trimmed with a ribbon, the ends of which tie in a saucy bow under the chin. But all the Dolls will look as pretty in a fine dress.

At another counter you will find Domestic Paper Patterns for everything in a doll's wardrobe. You can be sure they will fit if you get the right size. There is no better way of learning to make large garments than commencing on small ones. Sewing is an acquired taste in

We must not forget to add that all the Dolls are marked close to cost. We have taken good care that the little ones shouldn't go without for the sake of a few cents more profit to us.

Don't delay coming. This family of Dolls has its beauties. They will go first.

The virtue of the amendment was assailed on the ground that it was not properly journalized by the Assembly of 1885, or either house in 1887; that the Board of Examiners had failed to publish the amendment, as commanded by the Statute of 1887, and that a majority of the qualified electors did not approve of the amendment.

AFRAID TO PUT UP.

It Looks as Though Kiirain Dees Not Want to Meet Sullivan.

New York, December 18th.—No attempt has yet be made by Kiirain's friends to cever Sullivan's $5,000 deposit at the Chipper office, and Calvin said he did not expect any.

Sporting men about the city are boud in their denunciation of Kiirain's backers, who they say should have seft their money, as Sullivan did his, without a receipt. Kiirain's supposed backer, Roe, says:

"Kiirain will make his bluif good. He will notify Sullivan's backers that be will meet them in Canada or Mexico, at a time and place mutals agreed on, and arrange for a battle for $10,000 and the championship." The belief is growing among sporting men that Kiirain's Each of the sullivan. He has been there before.

New York, December 18th.—Kiirain's friends in this city have published in an evening paper the following: "Jake Kiirain's friends will then notify Sullivan and his backers to meet them at a place outside the jurisdiction of the United States, to arrange a match for $5,000 or $10,000 a side, and the diamond bet and the championship of the world. The party agreed upon at the meeting for final stake-holder is to be custodian of the money deposited at the Park National Bank. The party agreed upon at the meeting for final stake-holder is to be custodian of the money deposited at the Park National Bank. AN FRANCISCO MARKET.

SAN FRANCISCO MARRET.

SAN FRANCISCO, December 18th.
FLOUR—Good inquiry, with fair steadiness in values. We quote: Not cash price for Family Extras, $4 70\omega5 \(\beta \) bbl: Bakers Extras, $4 75\omega4 85: Superfine, $3 16\omega5 30.
WHEAT—Trade is slow at easy prices. The situation at foreign centers does not encourage exporters to ship in those directions at prices ruling in local circles. Values here are, to some extent, nominal, because offerings are not being pressed, and buyers do not appear at all anxious to trade. Wheat that comes up to the No. 1 standard is quotable at $1 45 \(\beta \) etl, being at least 2½c lower than a week ago.

BARLEY—Holders of strictly choice feed cling to the higher figure, but the response from buyers is neither prompt nor general. Old feed is receiving better attention, because it is offered lower and suits certain custom just as well as new. In brewing descriptions there is but little activity, while prices are not so strong as a short time ago. We quote as follows:
No. 1 Feed, 81½-6822-6; common grades, 77½-6 80c; Brewing, 92½-695c for fair to good, and 97½-66$1 for choice.

OATS—There have been some pretty heavy arrivals this week. Receipts for the past two days foot up about 23,000 ctls, comming from Oregon and Washington Territory. Such accessions must necessarily cause softer feeling in the market, but so far there has been no marking down
